Excerpt: . . . mendations of the Advisory committee focused on three important areas: (1) the need to improve quality; (2) the need to expand services; and (3) the need to forge partnership with other community providers, including closer coordination with elementary schools, State, and locally sponsored programs, cooperating with the private sector and linking Head Start with other National initiatives. Reauthorizations of the Head Start Act in 1994 and 1998 enhanced teacher qualifications, increased attention to cognitive areas of development, created the Early Head Start program, and led to program standards and the Outcomes Framework that guide Head Start programs in their curriculum planning, instruction, and delivery of services, as well as in the ongoing assessment of the progress and accomplishments of children. The Head Start Improvements for School Readiness Act of 2005 builds on the original foundation of the Head Start program and on past reauthorizations, by increasing the focus on continued program quality and the achievement of important educational and other outcomes for...
