D., Hosmer Professor of New Testament Exegesis, January 16, 1889 In assuming the duties of the chair, to which these exercises officially inaugurate me, I cannot overlook the peculiar importance of its history. During the first fifty-three years of its life this Seminary has had but two Professors of New Testament Exegesis. The first of these, the venerable Dr. Thompson, one of the founders of the institution, is still with us. I cannot tell how much his presence enhances the solemnity of this hour to me. It must certainly remind us all of the original intent and purpose of those who labored and sacrificed for the successful founding of the Seminary. I am sure I express the sentiment of us all when I say, long may he abide with us, not only to link the present with the past, but also to take part in the work of consolidating and enlarging the...
