Brand New Book ***** Print on Demand *****.Excerpt from The Tippecanoe Text-Book, Compiled From Niles Register and Other Authentic Records The compiler of the following pages was for nearly twenty years connected with Niles register, either as associate or principal editor of that work. In October last he retired from it; but since General Harrison s nomination for the presidency, numerous applications have been addressed to him from different sections of the country, by individuals seeking official information illustrative of the character and services of that veteran soldier-statesman. Such information as is embraced in the pages of the Register has always been promptly and cheerfully given. But he thought it he could relieve himself from the necessity of answering every individual applicant, and perform an acceptable service to the friends of general Harrison, by making a synopsis of all the documents, c., in the Register, and publishing it in the whig newspapers. He had not, however, advanced far in that task, before he discovered that it would be utterly impracticable to compress within the limits of a newspaper the vast mass of testimony which...
