He says the water ran pretty freely through Hiscocks place, natural runway, then it goes through the school section to Pine Creek and from there into the Saskatchewan River. He judged the area draining through his land to contain 1. 200 to 1, 500 acres. Thomas Hiscock, who has resided since 1909 off and on on the north-east quarter of 10, says the natural watercourse ran through the centre of his place, low-lying land, it has a clear course through. Mr. Alfred E. Farncombe, a surveyor and civil engineer with considerable experience in connection with drainage works is the only witness on either side who made a survey of the drainage area. He made his examination in October, 1921, just before the trial, and says that with regard to the watercourse he agrees with witnesses for the defendant as...
