At times, we have trembled lest our fears would conquer over hope. But the sun is rising, a new day is opening, the gray tints of dawn are pushing back the blackness of night. And say, don t you see by the dawn s early light, what so proudly we hailed, at the twilight s last gleaming ? It is the Star Spangled Banner waving in the glory of the new day, proclaiming its messages of triumphant hope and universal liberty for a world s democracy. The Toastmaster: We have something here you all want to see and hear. But before that is done, I desire to state that I am informed that we have with us to-night Captain R. Muir Allan, who has spent about four years in the English Army, in France, and in the trenches on the Western front. I am sure you would all like a word from him. REMARKS OF CAPTAIN ALLEN Gentlemen, I have fallen into the hands of the enemy to-night; into the hands of Brother Wallace, who persuaded me to come here with the idea of hearing speeches, but not to speak. It is rather a bit of a task for just a common soldier to stand before men who lay down the law. The other day I rode from a place called Centerville in a nice automobile, and on either side of me was a charming young lady. After I finished...
