Excerpt: .of results may as well leave these bonds which have an extra high current income to other investors who place exceptional weight on that point. The bonds having a low current annual income but a higher yield according to the bond tables are more to his advantage in the end. Or, to come at the matter from the opposite direction, bonds paying a low rate of interest are likely to be a better bargain than bonds paying a high rate of interest but showing the same yield. A 4 bond yielding 6 is likely, other things being equal, to be a better bond than a bond yielding 6 . A 4 bond yielding 6 is probably entitled to as good an investment rating as a 6 bond yielding 5.75 or even less. The investor will of course bear in mind that this is only one element in bond values. I have discussed it rather fully because it has heretofore been neglected. Especially, the reluctance of many investors to buy bonds selling considerably above par sometimes has an influence directly opposite to that here discussed. Effect of Taxation on Bond Values The state of affairs in regard to the taxation of bonds, considering the country as a whole, can only be described as a disgraceful mess. In nearly all states bonds are considered as intangible personal property and as such are subject to the regular personal property tax, which is sometimes so high that it...
